MISSION WORK

AMONG THE

Negroes and the Indians

What is being accomplished by means of the Annual Collection taken up for our Missions.

MEMBERS OF THE COMMISSION
CHARGED WITH DISTRIBUTING THE FUND:

HIS EMINENCE, JAMES CARDINAL GIBBONS,
Archbishop of Baltimore.

HIS EMINENCE, JOHN CARDINAL FARLEY,
Archbishop of New York.

MOST REV. EDMOND F. PRENDERGAST, D. D.,
Archbishop of Philadelphia.

AN APPEAL

In behalf of the Negro and Indian Missions in the United States.

DEARLY BELOVED BRETHREN :—

In making to you our Appeal this year we call your attention to several important points. First, that the work of evangelizing the Negro and Indian owing to your past generosity is growing, that there are now engaged in it a greater number of workers, and that more work is being accomplished. The body of secular priests and the number of religious order workers amongst the Negroes are greater than ever before; and among the Indians the same religious forces that in the past have so generously sacrificed themselves continue to devote to the work unabated zeal. Secondly, that with the increase of workers and the work there is necessarily an increased demand for means to carry on the work, so that we earnestly trust that, great as your generosity has been in the past, it will this year be increased not a little. And thirdly, that the necessity of giving ourselves to a greater missionary spirit, which must underlie this whole movement, becomes daily more and more evident if we are to preserve our work and produce adequate results.

With regard to this last point a few special words may be helpful. In the United States we indeed possess a sturdy Catholicity of which any country might well be proud, but it is subject to conditions which cannot but fill us with grave concern. The far too prevailing heedlessness of religion and of religious obligations and restraints, blighting at all times, has in recent years grown so great that it is gnawing into our very vitals, enfeebling our religious life, vitiating our family life, weakening the faith of not a few, and causing a loss which, while not yet great, cannot but increase vastly as the years go by, and our very wealth, if used only to procure pleasure and promote ambition, enfeebles more and more our whole religious make-up. How long do we think this corrupting process will last? Already the Protestant Churches of the olden times have succumbed in great measure to these deadly influences, and shall we flatter ourselves that we are unaffected? We shall find a salutary check to this baneful influence if we rouse ourselves to a mission spirit of greater sacrifice and activity than we have yet evinced, which may indeed serve not only as a recuperation for our losses but may even greatly spread our holy religion. Otherwise, Brethren, there is grave danger lest we utterly perish.

Again, there are in our midst 70,000,000 non-Catholics, of whom the Negroes and Indians form about one-sixth only. Is it possible for us to fulfil our serious, adequate obligation towards them unless we rouse ourselves to a fuller missionary spirit and activity, a spirit of prayer and penance and sacrifice for them far greater than any we have hitherto shown? Let us not forget that a woe is upon us if we preach not the Gospel to them as it should be preached.

Take again the agonizing cries now going up from the Philippines and the rest of the East for American Catholic Missionaries. Thousands of Catholics in those unhappy countries under the American Flag are unattended, and amongst the Heathens, millions of souls are perishing eternally for the want of missionaries and aid. "Come over to Macedonia and help us." Shall we say that we are now doing our share for these souls? How can we do our share unless we rouse ourselves to a fuller mission spirit and activity? Some say that we have enough to do to attend to our own. This is not the answer of a Catholic imbued with the knowledge and spirit of his faith. "Go teach all nations" was the mission of the Catholic Church. That mission is to all that will be saved whether at home or abroad. Not only that. It is certain that if we have not that Catholic mission spirit we will not attend to even our own. The flame of charity can be increased only by adding to it, and not by taking away from it the fire of love and sacrifice. God calls us, dear Brethren, to be a great missionary Church. That call is indicated in unmistakable characters. The agonizing cries from the East for the Catholic American Missionary and material aid, the obligation of evangelizing the non-Catholics surrounding us, the preservation of our own very existence, all demand it of us, and the woe of Christ is upon us if we do not respond to the call. God grant, Brethren, that we may respond to this call sacrificingly and generously, and that we show our sense of it in the present instance where these remarks receive peculiar point.

For what is this spirit which we would rouse up but the mission spirit of Christ Himself who hungered and sacrificed Himself for souls, but above all for the souls of the poor? "The poor have the Gospel preached to them," this was the peculiar glory of His mission spirit. And this mission work, this collection, is for the poorest of the poor, the Negro and the Indian. Of all those to whom the Gospel is to be preached none so poor and helpless as the Negro and the Indian. But recently raised from slavery or savagery, with childlike minds and hearts, lacking that development which other races have had for centuries there are no others on God's earth to whom the words of Our Lord apply more fittingly, none that can appeal more fully, to the Catholic heart. Coming, too, at a time when the call to missionary work is so pressing and obligatory, at a time when means to carry on this Negro and Indian work is more needful than ever before, we earnestly exhort that your efforts be especially strenuous, and that the Faithful be especially generous and self-sacrificing; for upon those efforts, and upon that generosity depend many works and the salvation of many souls.

JAMES CARDINAL GIBBONS,
Archbishop of Baltimore.

JOHN CARDINAL FARLEY,
Archbishop of New York.

EDMOND F. PRENDERGAST,
Archbishop of Philadelphia.

RULES GOVERNING APPLICATIONS FOR A SHARE IN THE MISSION FUNDS.

All remittances and communications concerning the business of the Commission should be addressed to the Secretary, Very Rev. E. R. Dyer, D. D., St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore.

The Commission will consider only such applications as are received through the Most Rev. and Rt. Rev. Ordinaries, and will put at their disposal whatever allocations may be made for the work under their charge.

It will always be taken as a matter of course that a mission which does not apply for assistance, does not expect a share of the funds. Applications must be made every time an appropriation is desired.

Those who ask for a share of the funds are respectfully requested to state, as precisely as possible, the amounts required for carrying out the various projects they propose to realize during the coming year.

The Commission also expects a detailed statement as to the amount devoted to each of the mission interests in a diocese which receives an allowance. Only upon the receipt of such information can a new appropriation be made. The statements will be published in the next annual report.

By order of His Eminence, James Card. Gibbons.

E. R. DYER, D. D., Secretary,
St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, Md.

Rev. J. R. Matthews, Pastor of St. Cyprian's Church, Washington, again sends an appeal for the annual amount allowed to support his free parish school and night school. He writes as follows: "I trust the Venerable Board will deal liberally with St. Cyprian's, whose records show that substantial returns are made for what is given them to help the school work. There are on the rolls for the night school during the past winter about 75 men and women and working boys and girls—all over the school age. Will most likely have more this year. Men and boys who cannot read and write a little and make change for C. O. D. deliveries are not wanted and cannot get work at all. The night school helps this class, and in a manner does the same work for women and girls to help them make a living."

The Mission Helpers of the Sacred Heart presented a very complete report of their work in the various hospitals of the city and in teaching catechism to the children. They beg the kindly consideration of the Commission, as their work is exclusively among the poor.

The Sisters of St. Elizabeth's Home make a touching appeal for aid. The following extracts are taken from their report: "There are at present in St. Elizabeth's Home over two hundred children. Less than a hundred are paid for by the State, city and friends. Over one hundred are supported by the Sisters, who trust to the charity of benefactors to help care for these poor little ones. During 1910 one hundred and sixty-seven were received into this institution, making the number cared for during the year three hundred and sixty-six. As in preceding years, many of the children received were less than four weeks old, and suffering in most cases from lack of food and proper care. With very few exceptions the Sisters had to provide clothing for the children received immediately on their reception into the home, and often the scant covering in which they were clothed had to be burned. This question of raiment presents an additional problem to be solved by an institution already over-burdened by a heavy mortgage of twenty-five thousand dollars." Another great need which should be mentioned in this letter is the absolute necessity of a Home for Boys. Besides the serious danger of having the older boys mixed up with the girls, they are not receiving the training boys require."

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd for Colored Girls appeal to the generosity of the Commission for the same or a larger allocation this year. The following statement is taken from their clear and complete report: "The House of the Good Shepherd for Colored Girls was opened September 29th, 1892, for the reforming of incorrigible Colored Girls. From the opening of the institution up to the present time:—

There have been received	657
Released, some to relatives and some for service	512
Deaths	30
At present in institution	115

The Josephite Fathers again earnestly renew their appeal for an appropriation to aid them in their noble work—the training of priests for work among the Colored People.

Rev. Father McElroy, Pastor of St. Peter's Church, makes an extraordinary appeal this year on account of the damage to the Church, School, Convent and House by the cyclone of August 27th and 28th. He writes: "The work is going ahead. The school work is telling in the fact that better instructed Colored Catholics are had. The past year seven girls were sent to St. Francis de Sales Institute, Rock Castle, Va., to take up the excellent normal course in that institution. When these girls have finished their studies, the intention is to open up schools in the more important cities of the State and put in charge at each place one of the educated Catholic girls as teacher."

Rev. Father Metivier, in charge of the Beaufort Missions, mentions the great losses suffered by the terrible cyclone of August 27th. "Three of our Churches are ruined. The Young's Island Church is a complete wreck; so also the Beaufort Church and the Church at Buffton. They cannot be put in a condition for religious services for less than seven hundred dollars. I am obliged at present to say Mass in private houses which are too small to admit all the congregation."

"Since last May the increase in the Catholic population was 48, of which 23 are converts. There is now a Catholic population of 464 souls, divided into twelve different missions or stations."

COLUMBUS.

Amount appropriated..... $1,500.00

Right Rev. Bishop Hartley, in applying for an allocation, says: "I have negotiated for property here in the city upon which to build a church and school for the Colored people. There are about thirty thousand here in Columbus, and something ought to be done for them."

The Pastor of St. Peter's Church, Lexington, Ky., says: "My work is very much hampered for want of a new Church. Please help me. I pray that God may move a generous soul to build a new Colored Church for us."

The Right Rev. Bishop, in his report, writes: "Father Wiersma also attends to the spiritual needs of the eighteen Colored Catholics of Frankfort, the twelve Colored Catholics of Georgetown and the few who live in Paris, Ky. Lack of funds prevents his visiting these and other places. A very modest chapel in two of them would facilitate and invite the work of catchising the Negroes and encourage them to attend."

"The 527 sick Colored people have been cared for by the self-sacrificing Sisters of Charity of Nazareth and the Sisters of the Poor of St. Francis without any remuneration."

St. Monica's Mission, Church and School.$ 500.00
Total disbursements $500.00

Rt. Rev. Bishop Lillis, in his report, writes: "Our beginning was indeed very hard; we suffered from extreme poverty and many difficulties had to be encountered. Still, we can state that this Mission was successful, and we realize that God is blessing our work and feel assured that St. Monica's Mission will be the salvation of many Negroes in future years. Fifteen converts were received into the Church since October, 1910. Of course, the Mission is small, but the few members which we have are very fervent Christians. They attend holy Mass promptly every Sunday, receive the Sacraments every month and contribute to the best of their means, though they are poor."

Rev. Father Cyprian, the Pastor in charge of this Mission, says that the work has been carried on very successfully. They have forty-seven children in the schools, and are in hopes of baptizing those that are not yet Catholics.

Rev. Joseph A. Shorter, of Holy Epiphany Church, states: "The dry weather of the early summer caused a failure of the vegetable crops hereabouts, and the aid received from the farm products of the Guadian Angel's Home land in former years is wanting this season, and thus a heavier expense must be incurred to maintain the destitute Colored children (over eighty) in our institutions. The work of the Negro Mission in the Leavenworth diocese is, therefore, in great need of help this year."

We quote the following from the report of Rt. Rev. John B. Morris: "Since our last report much has been done in our diocese for the uplifting and conversion of the Colored people, though the results are not so apparent, judging from the number of baptisms. The work consisted mostly in the erection of new buildings, without which we cannot expect any spiritual returns. A school for the Colored has been built on the east side of Little Rock, and in the same city another school, Priest's house and Church are in corse of erection and will be completed in the near future. We have also made preparations for the erection of a Church and School in Fort Smith.

"The feeling of the Colored people towards the Church is very favorable and promising, but as they are poor our success among them depends almost entirely on outside charity. We therefore appeal to you to make your appropriation as generous as possible."

Total disbursements		$2,000.00

The following extracts are taken from the complete report of Rt. Rev. Bishop Allen: "The Mission work among the Colored people in the Diocese of Mobile is making satisfactory progress. In the southern part of the diocese, more or less under Catholic influences for generations, there is a good feeling towards the Church and it is not difficult to make converts. In the central and northern part of the State Protestant prejudices are deep and not always easy to remove.

"It appears to me that an effort should be made to provide special hospitals for the Colored sick. The Sisters of Charity are doing good work for the Colored in their hospitals in Mobile, Montgomery and Birmingham, but accommodations are inadequate even here, and outside of these cities little provision is made for the Colored sick and poor who need hospital treatment."

We quote the following from the report of Rt. Rev. Prospects are bright, and from all present indications the Academy will easily hold its own at the opening of the ensuing school year. But the children are very poor and tuition is very low and very uncertain, and hence for some time to come we must look to the charity of the Commission to meet the calls of the Mission."

NATCHEZ.

Amount of appropriation..... $2,000.00

The appropriation was divided among the Missions of Philadelphia, Neschoba County, Jackson, Vicksburg, Natchez, Scranton and Bay St. Louis.

"In the Diocese of Natchez," said Rt. Rev. Bishop Heslin in the last communication which he addressed to the Commission, "there are more Priests and Sisters devoted to the education of Negroes than in any other. There are six distinct Negro parishes—three in charge of the Josephites and three in charge of the Fathers of the Divine Word—besides a number of Negroes in three or four other Missions and Parishes. Among the Indians, too, the work is steadily going on."

The Pastor in charge of the Colored people writes: "The outlook in New York City is encouraging. The Colored people contribute generously to the support of their Church; go to the Sacraments in increasing numbers and are active in bringing outsiders to a knowledge of the Faith. Two things we need badly—another Church in the upper part of the city, and, in connection with it, in the same locality, a parochial school. For both of these we long and pray, but can take no step forward because the money is lacking."

Rev. Father Chrysostom, O. S. B., writes from Bahama Islands: "The prospects of the Mission at Man of War Sound are particularly encouraging. There is no Protestant opposition, and the fifty families there can be undoubtedly gained over in a few years if the work is pushed, as it will be if financial aid is obtained. At Behring Point we had strong Anglican opposition, but there the Anglican Church is falling into decay, and the minister visits the settlement only once or twice a year."

The fact that we had eighty-two baptisms and over ninety first communions since last report shows that we are doing some good amongst the Colored People of Philadelphia. We established a Holy Name Society during the year, and at present over one hundred and forty men are members of the society. It would be difficult to find a better class of Catholics than the colored Catholics of St. Peter Claver's Church, and by their good example they are bringing many converts to the Church."

Reverend Father D. J. Haggerty, pastor of St. Benedict's

Church for Colored People, writes: "Our circumstances here are peculiar, and, to one not acquainted with them, quite difficult to understand. There are no pews rented, and we are not allowed to rent them to white people, whilst the large majority of the Colored People are unable to pay pew rent. Most of our proceeds are derived from entertainments such as picnics, plays, concerts, etc., and the time taken up in arranging for the success of these 'necessary evils' keeps me so busy that I am unable to attend to the spiritual needs of Pittsburgh's Colored population as well as I would like."

Our Sisters live a very poor life. I know this because it has been a custom for years past for the pastor to inspect their books monthly. Our school for Catholics is free, and necessarily so, as most of the people are very poor and many of the children have to pay carfare, as they live at a distance."

The Protestant Churches are working actively and perseveringly and donations of money, particularly from our winter visitors, are pouring in to their aid.

"Last winter we were able to complete and dedicate the handsome and commodious Church of St. Benedict in this city, and our Colored Catholics are very proud of it and fill it every Sunday. There has also been an increase of communicants."

As everywhere else, the schools are considered of the utmost importance in the missionary work. The Sisters of the Holy Ghost are laboring zealously in St. Peter Claver's School.

"The Holy Redeemer Mission has been growing steadily since its beginning some four years ago, then a little one-board white shanty, which served as church and school. Starting with seven pupils, the school closed this June with an enrollment of seventy."

Very Reverend Father Lissner, Superior of the Priests of the Society of African Missions, writes: "We have just completed a two-story brick school building with space for four hundred children. For a few years we must use a part of the building for a chapel. In this new district is a colored population of about six thousand, and only fifteen Catholics; thus the school, like in every other city, is to become the nursery for a Catholic parish.

"In places and districts where we have schools we can see a remarkable change in race prejudice. White people, Catholic and non-Catholic, have the greatest esteem for us and our work. What we have most at heart to do for the present year is to start a new Mission in the City of Atlanta. Atlanta is the largest city in Georgia, but, of 170,000 inhabitants, hardly 3,000 can be numbered as Catholics; therefore, the need for a mission is very urgent. I have two priests very anxious to start the new Mission in Atlanta, if I had only the means to furnish them an ordinary living."

Father Lessner says also that in 1910 there were nine priests and eleven teachers at work in Savannah Diocese. They had six schools, with an attendance of 400. Their orphans numbered 130. Besides the six schools just mentioned, there were three private schools with an attendance of 137. There were four churches and five Sunday schools. The adult baptisms in 1910 numbered 72, whilst 63 children were baptized. The total Catholic population was 700. There were two students in Lyons preparing for the Holy Priesthood.

Rt. Reverend Bishop Monaghan observes: "Through the efforts of the Josephite Father, Rev. Joseph J. Kelly, the work of conversions among the colored people of Wilmington has been most satisfactory. Sixteen converts have been received into the church by him during the past year. One-half of this number is the result of the day school, which is attended by many non-Catholic children. With more ample accommodations, a larger number could be received into the school and still greater results could be obtained in the future. The Boys' Home in Wilmington and the Industrial School at Clayton are both doing excellent work."

"Our progress is slow," writes the Very Rev. Father Crimont, S. J., Prefect Apostolic. "In the districts in which the natives are more in touch with the white population, whiskey peddling, loose morals, frivolity, dancing, place great obstacles to seriousness of life and religious influence.

"A fine school for girls, with forty boarders, has been established in the district between the Yukon and the Kuskokwin. It is conducted by three Ursiline Nuns and is a splendid credit to them and we begin to see the fruits of their and our labors. But for the boys, year after year the opening of a like institution has been delayed from lack of personnel, etc.; thus our work is lame and our hope of preparing a new generation of thorough Christians and a homogenously educated people is baffled."

St. Joseph's Church, St. Andrew's School and Mission, the Jesuit Fathers and Franciscan Sisters have been benefited by last year's allocation.

The following extract is taken from the report of the Rt. Rev. Bishop Charles J. O'Reilly: "Owing to the proximity of our missions to the Government Schools and to Presbyterian Missions, where the work of proselytizing is being actively carried on, and also to the enticement of free books and clothes which are offered to draw the simple Indians from Catholic influences, special vigilance is absolutely necessary, and we must endeavor constantly to supply our people with equal advantages of education and religious training."

BISMARCK.

Amount of appropriation..... $1,000.00

"When I became Bishop," writes the Rt. Rev. Vincent Wehrle, "one of my first cares was for the Indian Mission of Elbowoods. There an Indian school had been erected about twenty years ago, but was never used as a school. Begged by the Indians, I built a church and a Priest's house; thus I am more than six thousand dollars in debt. It was almost impossible to keep expenses down, and I was willing to face the bill; but now just those parts of my diocese where we have the strongest Catholic population have been visited by total crop failures. For this reason I find it necessary to seek some help from the outside.

"The Mission is now in charge of Benedictines from the Abbey at Richardton, N. D. Two Priests from that Monastery work among the Indians at Elbowood. There are also seven Benedictine Nuns teaching in the school there. They have more than seventy Indian children to take care of, and more than fifty grown-up Indians have been baptized within a year."

The following is taken from the report of the Rt. Rev. Vicar Apostolic: "The school is almost free. Some two hundred and forty Mexican children give only forty or fifty dollars a month. I have to supply all they need for their support, besides what is necessary for the running of the school. Repairs have been made and more have to be made. The Vicariate has suffered very much for the want of rain. Some places have had no rain for over three years, yet it is growing in numbers, but few Catholics have been added."

Rev. Norbert Wilhelm writes: "According to our humble opinion, it seems that the Indians in Michigan must be classed amongst the poorest in the United States. The Missionary must help everywhere. In order to have the children come to school he must buy them shoes and clothes and books. The schools connected with the Missions continue to do lots of good among the Indians.

"I desire to state that the Indian Mission at Cross Village is successfully working out the problem of civilizing the Indian and bringing him within the Church. Sixty-eight children attend this school. They come to Mass and the Sacraments regularly. The parents, however, cannot pay anything for the support of the school and the church revenues are small."
